

Abstract

Described is a financial debt security for the raising of capital for pharmaceutical R&D. Also described is a method of estimating the value of such a debt security. Also 5 described is a method of estimating the value of a pharmaceutical in research and development.